Gadd Dies At Hospital After Crash

Well Known Young Man Fatally Injured When Machine Hits Bridge Near Viaduct

Butler Hurt

Edward Butler Who Was Also in Light Truck Has Concussion

Never regaining consciousness following fatal injuries received when the car in which he was riding crashed into the steel fence at the western approach to the Washington avenue bridge over the Esopus, about 4:15 Sunday morning, Raymond W. Gadd, 31, of 430 Hasbrouck avenue, died at the Benedictine Hospital at 10:40 Sunday night.

Gadd was reported to have sustained an extensive fracture of the skull and brain injury, a fracture of the right arm and other injuries.

Edward Butler, 46, of 317 Hasbrouck avenue, who was riding with Gadd, was taken to the Benedictine Hospital suffering from concussion and lacerations. His condition this morning was reported as fair.

Riding Toward City

The two men were riding toward Kingston in a pick-up truck belonging to the Universal Road Machinery Co., with which Mr. Butler is employed. As the car approached the entrance to the bridge, at the junction of Route 28 and the Brabant Road, it for some reason failed to make the turn and struck the steel fence which runs along the sidewalk to the bridge approach. The car was struck near the cab door, the fence slicing inward so that the differential housing was cut in two, the left rear wheel and corner of the car being cut off. The car continued some distance and into the bridge, where it overturne on its right side.

Gadd was thrown from the cab and on to the pavement. He was taken to the Benedictine Hospital in the Conner ambulance. Butler, who was removed from the wrecked car, was also taken to the Benedictine by a private car.

First report and investigation of the crash was made by Officers McGrane and Krom of the Police Department, but when it was found that the accident had taken place outside the city limits, Deputy Sheriffs McCullough and Brown also investigated. Later Troopers Reilly and Judge of the S. C. I. took up the investigation, on which they were still working this morning.

Central Hudson Employe

Gadd, who was an employe of the Poughkeepsie office of the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp., was a son of the late George and Marcella Gadd. He was well known locally as a baseball player. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Grace Gadd; two daughters, Hazel, five, and Rae, three, of this city; five brothers, Thomas and George Gadd of Kingston; John Gadd of Meadeville, Pa.; Walter Gadd of Poughkeepsie and Howard Gadd of New York.

Following an autopsy last night the body was turned over to the McCutcheon Home, 422 Hasbrouck avenue.

Funeral services will be held at the McCutcheon Home Wednesday at 9 a. m. and at St. Joseph's Church at 9:30 o'clock, where a High Mass of requiem will be offered for the repose of his soul. Burial will be in the family plot in St. Mary's Cemetery. The body is reposing at the McCutcheon home, 422 Hasbrouck avenue, where friends may call at any time.

Third of Draftees Expected to Come From Big Cities

About 16,404,000 Will Register; Arrangements Are Complete or Are Up to Schedule

Washington, Oct. 14 (AP)—This is the week. Wednesday is the day. There has never been another like it in American peacetime history.

Some 16,404,000 young men between 21 and 36 will register Wednesday for a possible call to a year's compulsory military training, and the census bureau estimated today that a third of them would come from the nation's 90 big cities—those with 100,000 inhabitants or more.

New York city will register about 1,107,400; Chicago, 504,100; Detroit, 276,100; Philadelphia, 266,200; and Los Angeles, 220,700. All told, according to estimates based on 1930 figures, the 90 cities will register about 5,414,000.

Reports to national selective headquarters are that all arrangements are complete or up to schedule.

About 125,000 registration places have been located, usually at regular election precincts, though some states will use schools. Registration will take place between the hours of 7 a. m. and 9 p. m., local time.

About Million Designated

Approximately 1,000,000 registrars—election officials or school teachers—have been designated and given their instructions by county clerks.

Thousands of other volunteer workers are standing by to help at rush hours. Pools of volunteers have been organized in many places to await calls for help.

Millions of volunteers from business, civic, fraternal and social groups are arranging to see that all eligible men register. Some automobile owners will provide transportation for registrants.

About 700,000 copies of the President's proclamation ordering the registration have been posted around the country in public

Browder Is To Receive Court Study

Communists' Presidential Nominee to Have Conviction Reviewed by Supreme Court

Profits Are Issue

Bethlehem Corporation Also Wins Review of Charge

Washington, Oct. 14 (AP)—Earl Browder, presidential nominee of the Communist party in the United States, won a Supreme Court review today of his conviction on a charge of wilfully using a passport obtained by false statements.

The same court session agreed to pass on the justice department's contention that the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation made "unconscionable profits" on 86 ships constructed for the government during the World War.

The government's petition, which sought a ruling on its power to regulate profits on national defense contracts, said approximately $13,365,000 was at issue in the Bethlehem litigation. The corporation won in lower courts.

Browder was sentenced to four years' imprisonment and fined $2,-000 following his conviction last January 22 by a jury in the southern New York federal district court. The verdict was upheld by the federal circuit court of New York.

The next step after granting of the review is argument of the case, followed in several weeks by a decision.

In the Bethlehem shipbuilding case, three justices—Stone, Roberts, and Murphy—did not participate in the "review" order.

This was one of approximately 325 cases acted upon today at the first business session of the 1940-41 term that opened last Monday. The litigation had accumulated during the four-month summer recess.

Release Is Sought

Two kidnapers seeking release from the Alcatraz federal penitentiary failed to obtain a review of their contention that the Lindbergh federal kidnaping law was unconstitutional. It prohibits the transportation of a kidnaped person across a state line.

The kidnapers were:

Albert Bates, serving a life sentence for the $200,000 kidnaping of Charles F. Urschel from his Oklahoma City home in 1933.

Harmon Metz Waley, serving a 45-year sentence for the $200,000 kidnaping of nine-year-old George Weyerhaeuser in 1935 at Tacoma, Wash.

The high court agreed to pass on litigation challenging the constitutionality of the federal wage-hour law. The court agreed last spring to review another case involving validity of this legislation. Today's action was on an appeal by a group of cotton mills from an order fixing a minimum wage of 32½ cents an hour for textile workers. The order was sustained by the federal circuit court at New Orleans.

Other Actions

Among other actions the tribunal:

Denied a justice department appeal from decisions barring the use in federal criminal trials of evidence obtained by recording telephone conversations. Record-

Second Vessel Damaged and Aircraft Carrier Is Struck in Fight Off Isle of Malta

Rome, Oct. 14 (AP).—Italy hailed as her second naval triumph of the war today a high command claim that light Fascist warships and planes sank one British cruiser, damaged another and hit an aircraft carrier in a violent day and night battle off the Island of Malta.

The high command admitted the loss of a destroyer and two torpedo boats but claimed victory because, they said, the British loss amounted to 7,000 tons to only 2,600 tons for the Fascist force.

(Authoritative sources in London acknowledged the possibility of a Mediterranean clash but said they had no information to bear out the Italian claims.)

In another communique, the high command said British planes had attacked the Fort of Portolago in Leros, one of the Dodecanese islands in the Aegean, "scoring a direct hit on a Catholic Church and other civilian buildings, and killing altogether 34 persons and injuring 20 without considerable damage to military objectives. Two enemy planes were shot down."

'Of Neptune Type'

The British cruiser reported sunk was described as "probably of the Neptune type."

(Vessels of this type average 7,000 tons and normally carry 550 men.)

"The aircraft carrier was hit on the brow by a heavy caliber bomb," the high command asserted. "One heavy cruiser was damaged on the left side. Two enemy planes were shot down. One of our planes failed to return."

After the battle, which the Fascists said occurred Friday night and Saturday in the eastern Mediterranean off the British stronghold of Malta, a correspondent of Stefani, official Italian news agency, said the cruiser reported damaged was sailing slowly between two torpedo boats as the ships headed for Greece.

There was no indication as to the loss of life. The Italions said "a large part" of the crews of the three Fascist vessels sunk were saved.

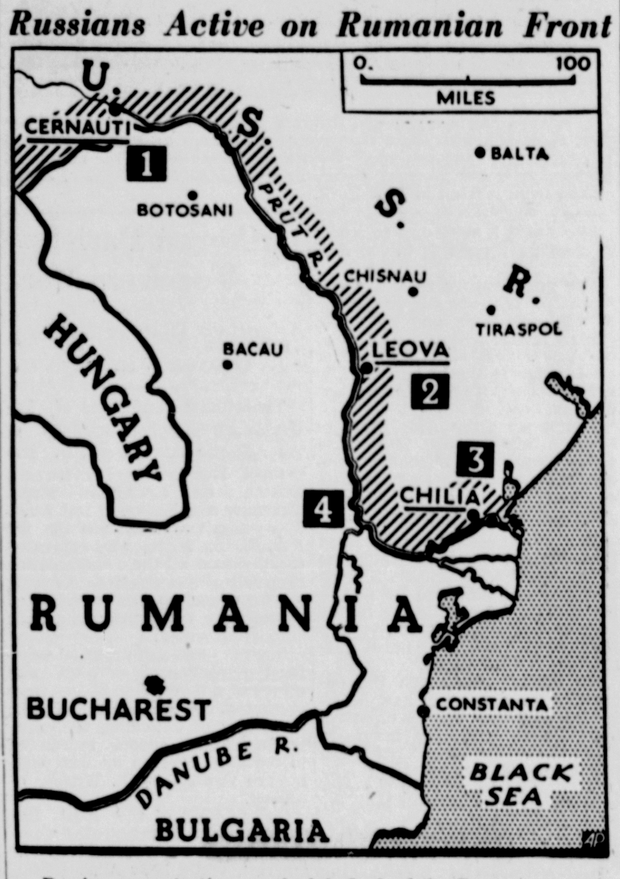

Activity in Africa

On the African front, the high command today reported continued activity of aircraft and ground patrols, adding that Italian positions on the Sidi Barrani zone in Egypt were shelled by three British warships, "without causing casualties or damage."

Italian planes were said to have attacked English flying fields at Fuka and El Daba, in Egypt, "with visible results," renewed the bombing of Lodwar, Kenya, and the fort works on the Island of Perim in the Red Sea.

British planes, the high command said, carried out a long attack on Tobruk, Libya, hitting a barge and cutting telephone lines.

Russians Active on Rumanian Front

Russian concentrations on the left flank of the Germans occupying Rumania were reported in Bucharest, Rumania. It was said that civilians were ordered from Cernauti (1) to make room for Soviet troops; Red naval ships were concentrated at Leova (2); Russian monitors sank two Rumanian patrol boats at Chilia (3), and long-range Russian guns were mounted at the junction of the Danube and Prut rivers.

Kiel and Wilhelmshaven Naval Bases, Krupp Works, Oil Plants, Airdromes Hit

London, Oct. 14 (AP)—British bombers, defying bad weather, last night attacked Germany's Kiel and Wilhelmshaven naval bases, oil plants, and Krupp works at Essen and German airdromes, and also carried out "the nightly offensive" against channel ports, the air ministry announced today.

The new attacks followed royal air force operations in which the British credited their fliers with sinking two Nazi transports and killing "over 3,000" German troops.

Britons were told the RAF's widening raids with heavier bombs are hammering home to the German people that their air force and air defense afford no immunity from the same horrors of death and destruction that have been visited on England.

Statements by the admiralty and ministers of air and information claimed that British forays started Saturday night hit 40 or more objectives from Norway south into France and east beyond Herlin.

Bombs dropped into the heart of Berlin for more than an hour were said by the ministry of information to have "badly shaken" public morale in the capital.

And that raid, the ministry added, was only a "small part" of the week-end campaign of destruction.

The heaviest bombs yet used against Germany were said to have been dropped on the big Krupp arms works in a two-hour attack at Essen. Repeated direct hits on the armament manufacturing buildings were claimed.

The ministry did not disclose when the troop-carrying ships were sunk off Lorient, one of the ports Britons have been told the Germans have made ready as invasion bases. The ships apparently were bombed at night.

Other ports along a 200-mile stretch of French and Belgian coast from Le Havre past Dunkerque were attacked Saturday and Sunday nights, as they have been almost nightly for weeks.

British pilots who dumped more bombs on the German long range gun positions near the Cap Gris Nez lighthouse Saturday night were said to have dived so low they strafed the positions with machine-gun fire.

Three swastika-marked ships of 2,000 to 3,000 tons each were said to have been attacked off the coast of Norway. They were bombed and machine-gunned and one was reported set afire.

Reds Pick Troops for Border Duty

Large Gun Sites Are Being Built at Spot Near Nazi-Planned Naval Base

Germans Are Busy

Nazi Officials Rushing Fortifications of Varied Types

Bucharest, Oct. 14 (AP).—Both Germany and Soviet Russia were reported speedily strengthening their military positions in the strategic area near the mouth of the Danube today.

Russia was said to be mobilizing picked troops along the lower Danube between its junction with the river Prut and the Black Sea, on the southern border of Bessarabia, and to be hurriedly building large gun emplacements along that line.

Germany plans to build a naval air base near Constanta, Rumania's main Black Sea port, were authoritatively reported.

Preparations were made for the arrival of a German naval mission to join the Nazi army, air force and general staff officers already in Rumania. It was said the naval officers would supervise construction of the reported Canstana base.

Germans Are Active

German anti-aircraft guns were reported already set up along the borders of oil fields and German fighter planes, air and land forces on hand.

The Germans also were reported supervising construction of anti-aircraft emplacements between the Danube and railroad tracks at Giurgiu, big Rumanian river oil port.

Thirty members of the British legation staff, including naval and military attaches, and 40 other members of the British colony in Rumania, left Bucharest today by train en route to Istanbul.

The British, on the verge of a diplomatic break with Rumania, said hundreds of their nationals would have left on Black Sea ships by Thursday.

But Russia's role was clouded with uncertainty. Two conjectures were paramount:

Would Russia, as Turkey's friend and with her own stake in southeast Europe involved, oppose a joint German-Italian onslaught?

Or did the pressence of Russia's red armies merely signify that Russia was preparing to share in the spoils—as she did in Poland after the German blitzkrieg had crushed the Poles?

Foreign military attaches estimated that the Russian army and air force, poised less than 500 miles from the Dardenelles, was greatly superior in numbers to German troops now stationed in Rumania or en route there.

The reported sinking of two Rumanian patrol boats by Soviet monitors aggravated the tension in Rumania, already made anxious by reports of large scale Soviet military preparations.

Well-informed sources in Bucharest said the Rumanian vessels were sunk recently in hotly contested, simultaneous actions, one at Chilia, a river port on one of the branches of the Danube at the Bessarabian border, and the other in the Star of Istanbul Canal which leads out of Chilia to the Black Sea.

(Russia regained Bessarabia and northern Bucovina from Rumania during the summer; she had lost them to Rumania as a result of the World War.)

Violations Charged

Rumanian authorities also charged that Russian vessels stationed at Chilia had violated Rumanian territorial waters in the last four days.

(In Budapest, the mere fact the Rumanian censor approved the report of the vessels being sunk was interpreted as an indication of the heightening tension.)

Refugees from Cernauti, chief city of northern Bucovina which Russia won by ultimatum last summer, reported increased Soviet military activity, asserting Russia had mounted long range guns at the junction of the Prut and Danube rivers, on the Russian-Rumanian border, had concentrated a large fleet of fast naval craft along both rivers and was moving great masses of troops toward the frontier.

They sail the whole Cernauti region was being turned into a vast military encampment, that civilians had been ordered out and that workmen were busy building

$200 Salary Made Yardstick in New Wage-Hour Rule

Sum Will Be Used as Aid in Determining What Exemptions Shall Be Made Under Law

Washington, Oct. 14 (AP).—A $200 salary monthly has been set up by the wage-hour administration as one of the yardsticks in revised regulations governing the exemption of executive, administrative, professional, retail trade and outside sales employes from the hours restrictions of the labor standards law.

The new regulations mean, in effect, that persons who come within the official definition of certain of these classes need not be paid overtime for work in excess

Interest Is Set For Lands Taken By New York City

Rate Given as 6 Per Cent on Awards to July 1, '39 and at 4 Per cent After That Date

In a decision of consequence to an estimated 200 property owners in the Delaware condemnation proceedings instituted by the City of New York for new dams and reservoirs on the Rondout and Neversink rivers in Ulster and Sullivan counties, the Court of Appeals has ruled that interest on condemnation awards be 6 per cent until July 1, 1939 and 4 per cent thereafter.

The decision in the case, matter of City of New York for the extension of Bronx River Parkway, did not come as a result of the Delaware condemnation proceedings, but as a precedent it lays down the rules binding the city of New York even in those proceedings. It follows a similar ruling made by Supreme Court Justice Bergan at Ulster county special term in May in Section 6 and Section 8 claims.

The difficulty arose when the legislature enacted that as of July 1, 1939, "the rate of interest to be paid by a municipal corporation upon any judgment or accrued claim against the municipal corporation shall not exceed four per centum per annum."

Contention Over Parkway

In the matter of the City of New York for the extension of the Bronx River Parkway, the property owners contended that interest should be allowed at the rate of 6 per cent from the date on which title vested in the city in the condemnation proceedings to the date of the payment of the award. On the other hand the City of New York contended that the interest rate should be four per cent for the entire period.

The Court of Appeals held that the act of 1939 changing the interest rate to 4 per cent did not delegate legislative power and was prospective in its effect only. The court also decided that the statue was not unconstitutional as denying the claimants in the condemnation proceeding the equal protection of the laws or as impairing the obligation of a contract.

Judge Sears, writing for a unanimous court, ruled that "in the absence, therefore, of any contractural or statutory right to interest at a specific rate, or any evidence that four per cent per annum is unreasonably low, the statute of 1939 is applicable for Augusta L. Cline of Gardiner was sentenced to a term of from 2½ to five years in the New York state prison for women at Bedford Hills today in county court on her plea of guilty to abduction.

Judge Cook imposed the sentence when Mrs. Cline changed a former plea of not builty to one of guilty as charged by indictment. The charge grows out of acts which she allowed her daughter to commit. James Connelly appeared for Mrs. Cline, having been assigned by the court.

Seymour of Kingston was arraigned on a charge of forgery, first degree, in two indictments and also forgery, second degree, alleged to have been committed on September 14, involving the making of a mortgage. Chris J. Flanagan appeared for the defendant and a plea of not guilty was entered. Mr. Flanagan asked for 30 days to make further motions but Judge Cook allowed 20 days and continued present bail.

President's Speech At Dayton Strong Meat for Dictators

Hitler's Only Question Can Be What Will Take Place If U. S. Is Forced Into War

By DeWITT MacKENZIE

What with President Roosevelt's blunt defiance of the threats by the triple alliance against America, and the reported ominous massing of Russian troops along the border of Nazi-occupied Rumania, it strikes me that the trio must have hearty food for reflection—if indeed it isn't such strong meat as to call for the old bicarbonate standby.

The chief purpose in the recent formation of the alliance by Germany, Italy and Japan was to scare the United States and (so many observers hold) Russia out of giving aid to Britain. The reaction to this strategy of terror—which has been one of the favorite weapons of the dictatorships—has been immediate and undoubtedly not what was expected. At least it isn't what was intended.

So far as regards the United States, Herr Hitler and his Allies found enough in just two sentences of Mr. Roosevelt's Dayton speech to show them where we stand. The President said:

"The Americas will not be scared or threatened into the ways the dictators want us to go. * * * no combination of dictators of Europe and Asia will stop the help that we are giving almost the last free people now fighting to hold them at bay."

Hitler Is Next Query

Since the United States has refused to submit to threats and dictation, the next question which Herr Hitler, as leader of the triple alliance, is bound to ask himself is:

"What happens if the alliances forces America into the war?"

Now there is only one logical answer at which he can arrive, so far as I can see, but in order to get the full significance of the position we have to recall why Hitler found it necessary to resort to pressure against us in the first place.

The great danger to Hitler and Mussolini (for our concern today is with the Axis and not with Japan) lies in Britain's control of the Seven Seas—the blockade of steel which is slowly but steadily tightening about them and the entire continent of Europe.

That's what the Axis partners have to beat—or else find themselves searching Mother Hubbard's cupboard for supplies that no longer exist.

Fails to Break Blockade

The Nazi attack on England thus far has failed to break the British—and the blockade. So now Germany and Italy are turning to the Mediterranean theatre in the hope of achieving a quick victory which will break that naval garrote about their necks.

No matter how much the operations may vary or how widespread they may be, the objective must always be the same—to crack the British navy. That is the theme runnig through Herr Hitler's mind as he ponders the momentous question of what happens if he forces the United States into the war. The answer at which he must inevitably arrive is this:

The Axis would immediately find itself facing another navy which perhaps is even more powerful than the British, although not possessing quite so many ships. It isn't a question of troops or tanks—but just warships.

If the Axis has thus far found the British blockade too tough to crack, what happens if an American fleet is sent over to reinforce it? What happens, for instance, to Italy with its great coast-line if still further naval might is added to the already dominating British fleets in the Mediterranean?

Axis Will Count Ten

The obvious answers are such as to make it seem likely that the alliance will count ten before making war on the United States.

Russia's intentions still remain obscure, although it is clear that that Soviet is strengthening its military and naval position in such manner as would serve for either defensive or offensive action. Turkey, which continues in a state of defiant preparedness for any advance down the Balkan peninsula by Messrs. Hitler and Mussolini, sees a threat against Russia in the German movement of troops into Rumania.

However, while the whole Balkan situation is full of dynamite, it seems to me that we aren't entitled to jump to the conclusion that Russia necessarily is about to come into the war. That certainly is possible, but the Bolshevists may sit tight for a time yet.

Lutheran Parish Teachers Meet

Atlantic District Group Convenes in City

The annual conference of Lutheran parish school teachers of the Atlantic District met in Immanuel Evangelical Lutheran Church on Livingston street Thursday and Friday of last week. The group was welcomed by the Rev. E. L. Witte, who expressed the pleasure of the congregation in greeting this conference during a time when the local church and school were commemorating their 70th anniversary.

Several papers of practical value for the teacher of religion, and others of a theoretical nature were presented. A discussion of the possibility of extending the centralized parish school movement to the area covered by this conference was led by L. Wagner of Albany.

George Weil of the local Immanuel school demonstrated a lesson on the history of slavery in America, while Miss Anna Kruse, of the local school, presented a reading lesson for the lower grades.

A paper on "Hints on Classroom Management," prepared by Ernst Klopp of New Britain, Conn., was read by E. G. Rabe of Meriden, Conn. L. H. Eggert of Bridgeport, Conn., presented a paper on "Winning Children as Friends of the School." A demonstration lesson on the use of the dictionary was offered by T. Grotrian of Bristol, Conn., and a practical catechism lesson by T. Schoech of New Britain, Conn.

The Rev. Paul Sander of New York, chairman of the Atlantic District Board of Christian Education, spoke on the reviving interest in the parish school movement and the need for a positive Christian training in an age of doubt and disillusionment.

The conference chose as its officers O. Prokopy of Danbury, Conn., as president; H. Kern of Bristol, Conn., as vice-chairman; and O. H. Wulff of Bristol, Conn., as secretary-treasurer.

A group of members of the Ladies' Aid Society had generously provided meals for the conference in the parish hall, a feature which was voted the official thanks of the conference.

Feast of Sukos To Be Observed Here October 16

Sukos, the Feast of Tabernacles, which begins this year on Wednesday evening, October 16, is the Jewish Thanksgiving Festival. The custom of dwelling in booths during Sukos, which gives the holiday its name, stresses the equality of all men, since rich and poor alike inhabit the same kind of structure.

Observed by Jews of Palestine and Reform Jews for eight days of which the first and last are full holidays, Sukos is celebrated by Orthodox and Conservative Jews for nine days, of which the first and last are full holidays. Sukos is the most joyous and the longest holiday in the Jewish calendar.

Although originally observed in Palestine as a harvest festival, after all fruits of the year had been gathered, Sukos through the centuries has become primarily a holiday of Thanksgiving for the Law.

Booths for the Feast of Tabernacles are built simply of wood and covered with vines, fruit, and flowers. Traditionally, they have served as a place for eating as well as praying and studying.

The palm branch, citron, the willow and the myrtle are used in Sukos services. While Maimonides, great scholar of the Golden Age in Spain, explained the use of these symbols as representing only Israel's joy at coming into a fruitful country, other sages have attributed various meanings to the symbols.

Notes Might Tell Why Couple Took Lives at Trenton

Trenton, N. J., Oct. 14 (AP)—Notes left by a wealthy German political refugee and the widow of a famous Viennese comedian were expected to reveal today, Detective William Clow said, why the two drank a "terrific overdose" of a sedative and clasped hands in death in a Trenton hotel room.

Side by side on twin beds, the expensively-clothed bodies of Hans Bielschowsky, 59, of New York city, and Mrs. Ebba Graetz, about 41, also of New York, were found by a hotel housekeeper yesterday afternoon.

Eight notes were arranged neatly on a dressing table, but police opened only two immediately, holding the others, all addressed to relatives in New York, until completion of their investigation. In Hans' effects was a pass book from a New York bank showing a deposit balance of $48,000.

One of the opened notes was signed by Bielschowsky and was addressed to the Trenton police. Clow disclosed it said the couple had decided to end their lives together "voluntarily" and asked that they be cremated together.

Firemen Are Called

While the auto of William Borer of Ulster avenue, Saugerties, was parked in a driveway at 175 Washington avenue, this city, early Saturday evening it mysteriously caught fire. The doors of the car had been locked and when Mr. Borer returned to the car he discovered the fire and called the fire department. Saturday afternoon smoke was seen coming from the building on East Strand of the Kaplan Furniture Co. The fire department was called. The smoke was traced to the oil burner in the cellar. There was no fire. The same afternoon the firemen responded to a call for a brush fire on Brook street, and Sunday night for a fire in the Sterling street dump.

Hines Proclaims Innocence While On Way to Jail

New York, Oct. 14 (AP) — Still protesting his innocence, James J. (Jimmy) Hines, for more than a quarter-century one of New York's most powerful political bosses, departed today for Sing Sing prison to begin a four-to-eight year sentence for protecting the $20,000,000 gambling syndicate of the late Arthur (Dutch Schultz) Flegenheimer.

The 63-year-old former Tammany district leader, clad in a blue serge suit and wearing his usual soft, grey hat declared, "—I slept well last night. I'll sleep well tonight and every night I'm in prison because I know I'm innocent and the truth will come out."

Then he expressed the "hope that Davis, Dewey and Schoenhaus sleep as well."

"If any of them has a conscience, I know they won't," he said. "That's no squawk. I haven't been squawking."

Hines referred to J. Richard (Dixie) Davis and "Big Harry" Schoenhaus, two of his co-defendants, and Thomas E. Dewey, district attorney who prosecuted them.

Davis received a one-year sentence, with six months off for time he already had served—he now is free—and Schoenhaus was given a suspended two year sentence. Both testified for the state.

Alone, Hines walked into the courtroom where in less than a minute he was remanded to Sheriff Daniel E. Finn, Jr., and his bail on which he had been free since April 4, was discharged. Under state law, Hines will be eligible for parole after serving two years and eight months.

Japanese 'Must Assist'

Tokyo, Oct. 14 (AP)—Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka was quoted today by some of the Japanese press as having declared at a national rally that "if the military situation becomes disadvantageous for Germany and Italy, we must be prepared to assist them." The same declaration was attributed to the Foreign Ministry by the Domei (Japanese news agency) radio but neither Domei's English or Japanese news reports carried the quotation. The national rally occurred yesterday.

PRESIDENT AT INSPECTION

President Roosevelt rode with Gov. John W. Bricker, (center) and Mayor Floyd Green, of Columbus, Ohio, both Republicans, as he visited the Ohio capital on a defense tour of industrial cities and reviewed a parade of troops at Fort Hayes, headquarters of the Fifth Corps Area. Later he visited Wright Field.

sodomy and carnal abuse of a child between the age of 10 and 16, on August 15, 1940, was arraigned and pleaded not guilty. Peter Harp appeared for the defendant. Twenty days were allowed to make further motions and bail in the sum of $1,500 was continued.

Ralph T. Caldwell, a water works employe at Shaft No. 2, was arraigned on a charge of having taken a 1935 Graham Paige car owned by Howard C. Anderson on August 14. The bill charged grand larceny, second degree, in two counts. John Bonomi appeared for Caldwell and offered a plea of guilty for his client and asked that the court be lenient. He said Caldwell had been under the influence of liquor at the time but had paid for all damage done to the car when it was damaged in an accident.

District Attorney Haver said that Mr. Anderson did not seek to see the defendant severly punished and he suggested a suspended sentence, telling the court that Caldwell had made restitution for all damage done. Mr. Bonomi also provided the court with a letter from the foreman on the job to the effect that Caldwell had been steadily engaged since the affair and had refrained from drinking.

Judge Cook gave Caldwell a chance. He sentenced him to a year in jail and suspended execution of sentence and warned the defendant that any future trouble would result in serious consequences. Once before Caldwell was arrested on a charge of driving a car while intoxicated. He was placed on probation.

Ernest Williams of Walden was arraigned on a charge of rape, second degree, alleged to have been committed on July 9. He pleaded not guilty and Jules Ewig was assigned by the court to interview him. Bail was continued.

Thomas O'Connor was arraigned on a similar charge and pleaded not guilty to the charge of rape. The act is alleged to have taken place on August 16. Roscoe V. Elsworth appeared for O'Connor and the court allowed 20 days for further motions and continued bail.

John E. Clements of Gardiner was given a six months suspended jail sentence for possession of a pistol without a permit.

Court recessed until November 12 at 2 p. m. when criminal matters will be taken up.

Vicious Circular Disowned By Democratic Committee

Attack Against Willkie Was Not Move by Party Says Chairman Rainey of Colored Division

New York, Oct. 14 (AP)—A circular under the heading of the Colored Division of the Democratic National Committee which attacked Wendell L. Willkie because of his German ancestry was disowned today by committee officials.

Julian D. Rainey, chairman of the colored division, said at a press conference that the pamphlet was the work of "a volunteer worker who is very enthusiastic," that the circular was never distributed, and that it came to light through a "newspaperman who pilfered a copy off the floor."

The volunteer worker, Charles P. Ray, Rainey said, had been dropped from the staff.

Edward J. Flynn, chairman of the national committee, reiterated his repudiation of the pamphlet.

Rainey said the pamphlet had no distribution "except through Republican newspapers." He said that he had ordered copies of the pamphlet destroyed Saturday morning and that he knew nothing of the pamphlet until it was called to his attention at Boston, where he spent the week-end at his home.

A statement by Ray issued at the press conference said in part: "The material contained in this circular was written by myself. I had intended submitting the finished copy to Mr. Rainey for his approval. Owing to the fact that I had to make a trip to Washington, the typist had the finished copy mimeographed. On my return Friday, I was unaware that this circular had even been mimeographed."

Ray's statement added that when this was called to his attention "I did not know that any copies had been given out and I did not give any orders for the distribution. . . .I was not authorized to prepare this circular and simply intended it as a suggestion to be used or discarded whenever it was brought to Mr. Rainey's attention."

Flynn issued a statement at the conference in which he said he had "gotten to the bottom of the incident of the misspoken colored circular."

He said that he had discovered the only circulation was by Republican newspapers, that so far as he could ascertain only a single copy went out from the colored division and "that was obtained by a newspaperman who picked it up himself."

Flynn said that the matter, like oher material, was awaiting the visa of responsible people connected with the national committee, that it represented only the idea of a volunteer, and that "of course it would never have been issued."

"I know nothing about it, Michelson (Charles Michelson, committee publicity director) knows nothing about it and Rainey claims he knows nothing about it," Flynn said.

Flynn said in a statement earlier that he was "chagrined to think that some reckless individual has done such a disservice to our great President and party as to issue this stupid document."

Willkie Is Afraid Roosevelt May Get Rash and Throw This Country Into War Soon

Says Action Would Be Worse Than Betrayal at Time of Such Unpreparedness

Aboard Willkie train enroute to Syracuse, N. Y., Oct. 14 (AP)—Wendell Willkie said today he was concerned that President Roosevelt "by a reckless statement may do something or say something that drives this great peaceful country into war at a time when it is wholly unprepared."

"We must, if we possibly can, keep this great land at peace," the Republican presidential nominee told a cheering audience at Schenectady and Amsterdam, N. Y.

"Taking this country into war when it is inadequately prepared is worse than betrayal of the country. It is just taking men to slaughter and to murder."

Willkie, beginning a two-day campaign tour across upstate New York termed production the greatest need in creating a strong defense and called for the election of men who understand production.

In a statement issued before his Schenectady talk he made two suggestions for speeding up the defense program; quick decisions on the type of planes and tanks to be built and "relentless" action against any firms trying to increase its profits on defense orders.

Party Can Be Judged

Moving on to Amsterdam, N. Y., Willkie reiterated an assertion made at Schenectady that a political party can be judged by its type of campaign.

"But what has the other side done?" he asked. "The national Democratic committee engages in a smear campaign * * * while the candidate himself, refusing to discuss the issues of the campaign, indulges in lofty speeches about foreign affairs.

"The important thing to the electorate is what is going to happen to this precious land of ours. Our first duty is to keep the torch of liberty in this land so that it can be relit in other lands hereafter."

Willkie resumed his criticism of the President's statements on foreign affairs, declaring that they "must end." As at Schenectady, he told how he and two brothers fought in the World War, and how other members of his family engaged in non-military war work.

Willkie said he feared that Mr. Roosevelt "by his reckless statements, by his assumption of leadership in world affairs * * * at a time when America is not strong, may bring warfare to our shores when it may mean destruction for thousands."

The crowd gathered around Willkie's train was estimated at 3,500 to 4,000 by Public Safety Commissioner John H. McClumpha.

Thefts at Accord Garage Result in Greenberg Arrest

Theft of numerous radios, tires and accessories from cars at the Byron Vandemark garage on Route 209 at Accord apparently is solved by the arrest Sunday of Charles Greenberg, 20, of 1046 Teller avenue, The Bronx.

Vandemark, who has been losing accessories from cars for some time, on Thursday night last had two radios and some tires taken and reported the loss to Sergeant Hopkins and Trooper Reynolds at Ellenville. Again Saturday night four radios and also aerials were stolen. Vandemark, who lives above the garage, told the troopers that he had heard an old Ford car leave the place at an early hour in the morning.

Sunday, while the troopers were driving through Kerhonkson, on the lookout, they saw a man changing a tire on an old Ford, near the Decker liquor store. The sergeant stopped to investigate and found three radios in the car. In the investigation which followed, joined in by Troopers Metzer and Baker, of the B. C. I., it was learned that a radio had been sold on upper Briggs Street, and a number of missing accessories, including two new wheels, were found at the summer home of Greenberg's parents in Granite, where Greenberg was stopping while up from the city.

Greenberg was arrested and arraigned before Justice Percy Barley of Accord. He waived examination and was held at the Ulster county jail to await the action of the grand jury on a charge of grand larceny in the second degree.

WAR MOOD

"America is on the edge of war simply by saying no, we are not going to war," declares a newspaper reader in a letter to the editor. Maybe it's worth while to listen to him for a minute or two. He continues:

"The government is beginning to put on boxing gloves and is shadow-boxing with make-believe theories and pacts. We are all of us standing on the water's edge saying to Hitler, 'We dare you to come over!'

"People are walking along the streets here in this country and saying things short of war. Everybody is doing something short of war. We are conscripting men short of war. We are arming ourselves to the teeth short of war. We are planning to shoot down an invader short of war.

"All of a sudden we are at war inside ourselves; we are going to the movies and seeing pictures showing hate in a copper kettle bubbling over the slides. We are singing songs and gearing ourselves into a manufactured patriotism and putting up silk flags saying how good it is to be what we are, Americans. A year ago we were striking, and being Communists, and thumbing our noses at Liberty, and saying nasty things about the whole democratic set-up. And now, standing on the sea shore begging Hitler to try us out, and daring him to step into our yard, we are inflating ourselves with all kinds of dope and calling it patriotism."

Well, that's a picturesque and exaggerated diagnosis, but there's something to it. How about a little campaign to keep our shirts on?

BUTTER

"Danes are punished for hoarding" says Joachim Joesten in The Nation, but "Nazis buy unrestrainedly." Mr. Joesten escaped from Denmark early in the period of German occupation, and writes from Uppsala in Sweden in September.

"The ravenous hunger of the German soldiery for Danish butter is almost a subject for an epic. In the first days of the occupation you could often see big, serious-looking fellows in uniform standing outside dairy shops and licking up half a pound of butter, without bread, like ice cream, with the ecstasy of a small boy sucking a lollipop. Every member of the occupation army has the right to send home half a pound of butter a day, and hardly anyone failed to make use of this privilege to the full. This drain on supplies, combined with the wholesale buying of butter for export to Germany, has cleaned out the country. Severe rationing has been decided on, to begin October 1. It is expected that the allowance will not exceed 250 grams per person per week, which is about a quarter of the normal Danish consumption."

If the rationing continues at 250 grams per week, which is about nine ounces, and if it is supplemented with other fats for cooking and baking, it will be enough. The American adult's use of butter on his bread is not far from that amount. But the American has olive oil or other vegetable oils in his salad dressings, plenty of lard, bacon, suet and drippings, not to mention such minor items as peanut butter and chocolate. If the 250 grams is the whole fat ration, the Danes will be in a bad way before the winter is over. Cold weather calls for fats in food.

PITY THE WILD DRIVER

Reckless drivers, says a psychiatrist in Oklahoma City, are usually afflicted with an inferiority complex. Because they feel inferior, they are driven to show off by "driving overbearingly, with ruthless disregard of the well-being of other motorists or the safety of pedestrians."

Because this is the case, adds the experts, the arrogant show-off driver is as transparent as if he carried a sign saying "I'm an inferior sort of guy."

The remedy for such at attitude would seem to be driving so carefully and decently that the driver could then take pride in his masterly control of the car and his flawless use of the streets and highways. And in order to cultivate such pride, it might be well for a community to pay more attention to rewarding good drivers than to punishing bad ones.

Speaking of sloppy speech, there's one word especially which every American should pronounce correctly. It is "American," which is not really "Amurrican" or "Amurcan," or "Amercan."

They say women will not cooperate, but the wife and sweetheart of an Ohio man have ganged up on him.

Every four years we Americans do our political washing and hang it out for the neighbors to look at.

"Japan warns U. S. to Bow to the Axis." If we do, may we "get it where the chicken got the ax!"

THAT BODY OF YOURS

THE DECISION TO OPERATE

Shortly after I graduated, I induced a younger brother to have an operation on his right arm. The arm had been badly crushed and both bones of the forearm broken when he was a small boy. The tendons of the fingers had been damaged so that he could not extend his fingers which was a real handicap to a baseball shortstop and an art director, in later life.

As the operation was about half over, the older surgeon of the two thought that enough had been done for the time being, while the other wanted to complete the job and have all five tendons repaired. They appealed to me as a physician and brother of the patient. It was a tough spot for me as I had to make the decision although I knew less than either of them. The patient was doing only fairly well under the anaesthetic but I advised them to complete the operation. When I removed the cast at home weeks later and found that the patient was able to move all five fingers and they were all perfectly straight, it lifted a load off me.

What about a case brought into hospital when there may be a question as to whether or not an operation should be performed? It is certainly a difficult position at times in which a surgeon finds himself. He believes it is in the patient's interests to operate, but knows that other surgeons might not agree with him.

That the happy solution for this difficulty has been achieved is reported in the Journal of the American Medical Association by Dr. S. S. Goldwater, Commissioner of Hospitals of the City of New York. The surgical services in one of the institutions under his care have adopted a rule that "all operative cases of election (choice whether to operate or not), except emergency cases where immediate operation is necessary, must have a record of examination by two members of the visiting surgical staff recommending the operation."

"This rule provides an additional safeguard for patients about to undergo operation where the advisability of the operation may be questioned later, gives added protection to the public and also adds legal and moral support to the judgment of the attending physician."

"The patient, the physician, and the institution would all seem to be benefited by this rule of precaution."

Q. I have been married seven years. My wife works and is self-supporting. I have no other dependents. Will I be conscripted ahead of married men who support their wives?

A. Not necessarily. As I have pointed out before, there is a tendency on the part of selective service officials to skip the DEGREE of dependency altogether and I happen to know that if some of them had the entire responsibility of interpreting the draft act, they would defer ALL married men (with probably the exception of those who are not even self-supporting). They simply feel that for the psychological and moral good of the country, it is better not to disrupt marital relationships unless conditions become more critical than at present. These officials at the moment are in the majority and it is likely that this "loose" interpretation of the dependency clause in the law will prevail.

Q. I am the father of three children. My wife died a few years ago and there is no close relative who could take care of the children. My wife's will left the children (all minors) sufficient incomes to make them independent of my earnings. But if I were called into service, I don't know what would happen to our home. Do you think I will be called?

A. I don't think you will be. I refer you to the answer to the previous question. If the demand for manpower far exceeded the supply, you probably would have to come into the service, but at present the supply of manpower is adequate and I know it is the intent of national selective service officials not to work any drastic hardships on the American home. This is another of those problems that will have to be solved by your local board and, as in every borderline case, you have the right of appeal.

Q. I won't be 21 until next year. Do I have to register then?

A. The President under the law, is empowered to order additional registrants whenever the need demands it. Since no one knows what next year will bring, it is impossible even to guess at the answer to this question. If world conditions continue critical, it is likely that the President will order registration each year for the approximately 1,000,000 men who come of age every 12 months.

Q. If I am in the second or third class, what are my chances of being conscripted?

A. So slight under the present law and present conditions, that you need not give it another thought. In the World war, when the final age limits were 18 to 45 (instead of the present 21 to 35 inclusive), there were more than 24 million men registered in the third draft. There were less than 3,000,000 men inducted into the service and these were less than half of Class 1.

Q. What if I marry between the time of registration and the first call?

A. Apply immediately (within five days, at least) for reclassification. If your local board is convinced that you married to evade the draft, you may not get it, but no board is going to overlook the fact that there are thousands of marriages in the United States every day and that a certain number of these are bound to occur during the period you mention with no intent to evade the draft.

Answers to Real Issue of Presidential Campaign Shown More in Attitude of Voters Than in Speeches

By DAVID LAWRENCE

(Copyright, 1940)

Washington, Oct. 14—What is the real issue of the presidential campaign? Is it staying out of war? Is it the third term? Is it the effective organizing of national defense? Or is it just one candidate trying to replace another in office?

The answers to these questions are not being revealed so much in the campaign speeches as in the attitude of many voters who already have been canvassed. For the tragic truth is that millions of voters have already indicated they do not care about any of these questions at all—they are apparently satisfied to give a blank check to Mr. Roosevelt. Whether they are in the majority remains to be seen on Election Day, but from surface indications it is evident that national issues aren't important to millions of voters—they just don't care.

This impression has been sedulously cultivated by the President himself. He has refused thus far to debate the issues or tell the public the program he has in mind for the next four years. He has refused to admit a single error or mistake in administration or policy of the last seven years or to indicate whether he will revise his past policies in any respect. He has used military inspection trips as the ostensible reason for declining to discuss domestic issues, but it begins to look as if there is a deeper reason. It is that Mr. Roosevelt wants and really hopes to receive what he can interpret as a do-as-you-please mandate on Election Day—to take America into war, if he likes, and to develop New Dealism into his own form of Fascism when he wishes.

Back in November, 1936, Mr. Roosevelt thought he received a do-as-you-please mandate from the American people and, though he never mentioned the Supreme Court in a single campaign speech in 1936, he proceeded to devote eight months from December, 1936, to an attack on the court and laid the foundations for the appointment of five partisans who now hold the majority rule in the court and who reveal their partisanship by voting as a unit on the same side of nearly every fundamental question. It is not a political partisanship, but the avowal of New Deal war on property owners as proclaimed by the President in his 1937 speeches against the court.

It is a philosophy that represents a definite trend toward confiscation of private property and the breaking down of management and business under the system of private initiative as it has been known for centuries. It is the first step toward the disintegration of democracy and the substitution of present-day European collectivist systems in which the existing administration — the party or clique in power, which uses public funds and government influence and propaganda to perpetuate itself in office—becomes the true ruler.

A prominent journalist, who was in Berlin during the thirty days before Hitler took power in 1933, says the American mood today definitely resembles that very period. The people seem to have a don't care attitude of mind. They appear ready to acquiesce in one-man rule because they do not see beyond the prefessions of high purpose made by the man who catches popular fancy. Even the breaking of the two-term tradition of nearly 150 years already seems to many people just a "minor" incident. Other traditions can be made to seem "minor" too.

Over the week-end, Henry Wallace, vice-presidential nominee, made it quite clear that the only difference he sees between European dictators and Roosevelt is that the former is evil and the latter is good. Mr. Wallace was referring to his book in which he had spoken of Lenin, Mussolini and Hitler as persons of "comparable earnestness," with the reformers of the sixteenth century, and now the vice-presidential nominee says he means by earnest—"intent and direct of purpose, zealous, fervent," and he adds:

"There is no questioning the intent and direct purpose characterizing the dictators . . . the all-important thing is that we have men in our democracies who, on behalf of freedom, have a comparable earnestness."

Mr. Roosevelt would be the first to deny that he plans to be a dictator or that he favors Fascism for America. In his heart he doubtless is convinced he is an enemy of both. But Mr. Roosevelt is a gullible person. All around him are radicals and totalitarians who have had his ear for nearly eight years and who write many of his speeches and influence many of his decisions. These men are not so conspicuous now, but the moment the election is won they will be back behind the throne, guiding the destines of the government.

Mr. Roosevelt customarily gives this inner circle plenty of power, and it is they who, using such innocent-looking phrases as "planned economy," work day and night to transform the American system into something that may never be called Fascism—it's an unpopular word—but which in its practical effect will have the same "comparable earnestness" here.

Take freedom of the press: one governmental agency already rules on it as a limited or "qualified right" and the issue is actually pending in our New Deal courts today.

Take the matter of governmental regulation by boards and commissions and bureaus. Time was when a citizen, rich or poor, could get a square deal, but today because of the class consciousness in these tribunals a man of business and industry usually has the cards stacked against him before the case opens. The President acquiesces in it. As recently as last week, he silently approved of it when his own Attorney General issued a ruling of a character designed to intensify class war. But not a word of clarification or repudiation came from the White House.

Take the matter of Congress: the President is indifferent to it and has been trying to send the national legislative body home. On one question recently, which was known for three months to be vital, the President refused to submit his proposed action to Congress though it involved a direct contradiction of existing law. He was told the people approved and that they were ready to dispense with debate. When a people are ready to dispense with a coordinate branch of the government, they are ready to do what the German people did in 1933 when they dispensed with their Reichstag. Hitler preserved all the constitutional forms and subsequently it was too late for the people to recover possession of their own government.

The American government has never been a one-man government. If Mr. Willkie is elected, he will find the entire Army and Navy behind him and the members of the National Defense Commission eager to cooperate as will also be the men who have made diplomacy a career irrespective of changes in administration.

LAWRENCE—(4)— .. ..

There is no mysterious "experience" in foreign affairs needed at the moment in the White House. What is sadly needed is a united America in the face of a world peril because a divided America means here, as it did abroad, the creation of those conditions which paralyze industrial production and sabotage national defense.

The issue of this campaign is whether class war in America shall be continued or stopped. Mr. Willkie wants to end it. Mr. Roosevelt is content to let it go on. That's the main difference for those voters who really care. And for the other people who want to give Mr. Roosevelt a do-as-you-please mandate, they are accepting totalitarianism with their eyes wide open anyhow.

"John D. Rockefeller; the Heroic Age of American Enterprise,"

By Allan Nevins

Allan Nevins is again on the trail of a Pulitzer award. This time his candidacy rests in a superb biography of John D. Rockefeller, subtitled "the Heroic Age of American Enterprise." It is the first work of its length and sweep to have reached an irreproachable level of candor and honesty, and it probably constitutes the definitive study of the man who brought the principles of consolidation in business, and freedom in philanthropy, to perfection. It is amazing that such a book could be written so soon after the death of its subject.

And what a subject! Usually Rockefeller has defeated biographers by his cool reticence. Nevins has pulled the intimate detail of his life out of hundreds of sources. He shows Rockefeller gleeful at having passed a dray with his team so close that the hubs of the two vehicles clicked. He shows him and Mrs. Rockefeller swimming in the lake at Forest Hill, near Cleveland, the wife with a perfect hairdo, and the husband apparently fully dressed, with a straw hat on his head.

He shows him giving money with one hand, in the very early days, in exact proportion to the intake of the other hand. These gifts began in 1855 with a total for the year of $2.77. In 1878 the total had reached $23,000; it first cracked a million in 1892, in which year the sum was $1,353,520.70. One wonders who got the 70 cents.

One wonders also how Nevins managed to crawl through the maze of statistics and accusations and explanations during the years Rockefeller was buying up the oil world. Nearly every transaction of the period can be interpreted at least two ways, and usually the interpretation has been unfavorable to the elder Rockefeller. Nevins is not writing an apology, yet he cannot avoid showing that very often Rockefeller acted wholly within the ethical pattern of the period.

Rockefeller established early the principle in his philanthropy of requiring others to give in just proportion as a condition of his own participation. Likewise, in the days of huge gifts, he was almost unique in giving trusted administrators absolute control of the vast sums appropriated.

It all makes a book without which the mosaic of the period could not be complete.

New Games to Give You Halloween Party Fun

A Fortune Hunt for Your Crowd

The witching hour on Halloween—and your party hits a new high in spooky thrills as the crowd pairs off, candle in hand, to hunt fortunes.

Clever to arrange the hunt in "Safari" style, telling your guests that they who dare the scariest spots will win the best fortunes.

Let your dark cellar be the Ghost's Walk and behind your ghost (broomsticks and sheets) hide a card saying: "You have what it takes to win riches, fame, love!"

Conceal less rosy fortunes in dark cupboards or attics disguised as the Witch's Den, the Black Cat's Lair, the Owl's Nest and so on. But for those timid souls who will venture no farther than a Jack O'Lantern in a dark hallway write such fortunes as "Sissies! Faint hearts win neither kisses nor wealth."

Another lively stunt is "Baffling Box." Put in your box such objects as soap and steel wool and have everyone try to guess what they are while lights are out. The wild guesses are riotous fun.

Many more games for Halloween—for all kinds of parties—are given in our 32-page booklet. Has lively fortune games, team games, brain-teasers, ice-breakers stunts to make you the most popular hostess in town.

Send 10c in coin for your copy of PARTY GAMES FOR ALL OCCASIONS to Kingston Daily Freeman, Home Service, 635 Sixth Ave., New York. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, and the NAME of booklet.

NO LONGER AN INVALID, WOMAN IS ANNOYED BY FRIEND'S CONSTANT REFERENCE TO ILLNESS

Emily Post Suggests How She May End Monotonous Phone Inquiry —Other Questions Answered

"I don't lie down all the time, nor am I all day in bed!" You might say exactly this to your friend as you have said it to me.

My reader's situation was this: "A friend of mine always begins her telephone conversation, after saying "Hello," with "Did I get you up?" I think she seems to suggest that I am always lying down. Perhaps I am oversensitive about this, because up until a few years ago I did spend a great deal of my time being ill. But what could I say to end this question of hers? It does, needless to say, become monotonous."

Drinking Through Straws

Dear Mrs. Post: When drinking a cold drink through straws, is it correct to lift the glass up nearer the mouth?

Answer: Certainly.

Proffering Iced Cake

Dear Mrs. Post: Should a large iced cake ever be passed around the table whole? This happened to me lately. Suddenly I looked up and there was the cake at my left, as yet uncut, because I was the first to be served. I had the jitters trying to cut myself a piece while the maid stood there holding it in midair.

Answer: The cake should have been cut—or at least as many pieces of it as there were people at table. It should then have been proffered to you with the knife thrust under one piece ready to lift out.

Would it be Better not to Have A Reception?

Dear Mrs. Post: Unfortunately my family is estranged from all our relatives. Do you consider that it would be better not to have a wedding reception for my sister rather than have only the groom's relatives present?

Answer: This question, it seems to me, is one to be decided by your sister's feelings. If all her immediate family are to be present, the absence of distant relatives may make no difference at all. As already said, the bride is the one to decide.

A Sweet Sixteen Party

Dear Mrs. Post: Do you advise taking a present to a Sweet Sixteen party being given by one of my friends in a hotel?

Answer: Since it is obviously a birthday party, taking a present would be proper, of course—but not an exaction, as at a shower, for example.

Carol Spoils Business At Spanish Hotel

Seville, Spain, Oct. 14 (AP)—The presence of Ex-King Carol of Rumania, his read-haired friend Mme. Magdu Lupescu and his regal entourage cost the Andalusia Palace Hotel here some business today.

152 trunks.
A collection of rifles.

Four Rembrandt paintings. (Value: priceless).

THE ROAD TO SHANI LUN

by Rita Mohler Manson

YESTERDAY: Lynn Britton, lovely American girl, just has discovered that her scapegrace half-brother Dick has, in effect, sold her in marriage to a Mongolian prince. Sherdock and Temu, friends of the Prince who are escorting Lynn to his court, have explained the mystic origin of the Prince and Lynn is fascinated in spite of herself.

Chapter 16

Girl In A Trap

LYNN regarded Sherdock with a sense of helplessness.

"Have you any recollection of your life with King Sron-btsan-sgam-po?" Sherdock asked.

Lynn glanced at Temu, unable to interpret the inscrutable smile on his face. Did he believe this stuff or was he secretly laughing?

"I certainly have no such memories," she said.

"Your life, the Prince's, mine, theirs," he nodded at Gersing and Temu and Chin Pak, "all our lives have run parallel before."

Contrary to a carefully educated skepticism, Lynn thrilled to the idea. Surely, the mystery of life is much deeper than any glib scientific attempt at explanation.

Sherdock continued, "Perhaps we did unwisely in dealing with your brother and now we have to pay for it in this difficulty with you."

She looked from him to Temu. "Why didn't this Prince of yours come for me himself?" She noticed a hesitation as if each man waited for the other to reply until Temu answered:

"Leaving his own domain is rather risky for a ruler these days, especially in this part of the world. The Prince has enemies; there are even certain powerful governments that would like to see him out of the way. He is safest in his own domain."

She held his eye for a moment. "You call that love?"

"We are not trying to prove anything now. You will have your proof of love when you reach Delun."

Lynn stiffened. "The whole thing is preposterous. I demand that you send me home at once."

They merely sat and looked at her. She realized there could be no hope of help from Sherdock who was wrapped up blindly in the desire to serve his beloved Prince and pupil. She held out a pleading hand to Temu Darin.

"Temu, you say you came to know American girls when you were in my country. You must understand how impossible this is."

His eyes had narrowed. "Do you wish to go back and marry your banker?"

"I do not wish to marry anybody!" she cried wildly. "I doubt if I even like the idea of marriage. It is all so mixed up with settlements and laws and material advantages and necessities and a sense of possession — everything but love. I'm no chattel. I'm a human being with rights and reserves of my own."

"If you married the Prince you might learn to love him."

"Stop it!" she commanded. "I've heard silly arguments like that before. The Prince is not the only man who wished to marry me because he saw that picture."

Sherdock interposed: "If you could only have shared my experience in finding the boy! He had been beaten and starved and frozen, but he was still undaunted."

"Many appealing little boys grow into strange specimens of manhood!" she retorted bitterly. "Look at my own brother!"

Temu shrugged. "Then let us forget it until we reach Delun."

"I'm not going to Delun," declared Lynn rising.

He came to his feet smiling grimly. "Sorry, but you're going to do as we say."

Anger and loathing and an inner sense of helplessness darkened her eyes. "You beastly Mongolians!" she raged.

White Ruler

"SIT down again please!" Though Temu did not touch her, she felt literally pushed down into her chair by the personal force of his words. "We have something more to tell you. It happens that the Prince is a white man and not a 'beastly Mongolian.' His parents were missionaries recently come from America."

Lynn's only experience of a missionary's son happened to be unfortunate. Her lips tightened.

"His race makes no difference to me. If I were marrying I fancy I'd be better off with a superior member of an alien race than with a second-rate white man," Lynn answered, rising to leave the tent.

Then she stopped, arrested by a sudden flood of crimson that had suffused Temu's bronzed face. Slowly a little smile deepened at the corners of her mouth. She gave him a second glance and he held her eyes.

"You are courageous," he said.

"And you claim to be incorruptible." She turned and went out. Well, he was a superior man of an alien race, and she had managed to get under his skin. Could she stay there?

Lynn, left alone for the rest of the morning, had time to think. Naturally, the Prince would make Temu, a man with some white blood in his veins, his friend and confident. She could see Sherdock's and Temu's positions; they loved the Prince. His person was identified with their nation. They believed fanatically in his incarnation as their leader. His will was their law and pleasure. It must be good to be loved so deeply.

She thought of the Prince and his destiny with a sense of awe. He could hardly be blamed for believing what Sherdock told him. The reincarnation story was hardly less incredible than the facts of his own life. Born in America! Orphaned in the Tibetan wilds under horrible circumstances. Few white men could stand up under it.

Had his parents remained in America, he would probably have grown up to be a lawyer or a business man or a ditch digger. She wondered how he compared with Temu in character and worth and was willing to wager that the Mongol would prove the superior of the two.

Temu would not be an easy man to circumvent. The thing to do, she saw, was to accompany the caravan willingly so long as she must and escape when opportunity came. That the opportunity would come, she felt absolutely certain.

Mongol Table-talk

SHE went pleasantly and in a friendly spirit when the Duchess called her to their late afternoon meal. Her son, the abbot from the lamassery was present. Lynn noticed him now as she had not the afternoon before. There was small resemblance, except in weight, between him and the Duchess. The abbot was a fat young man who held his head down and looked up at one under slanting brows. Lynn wondered if it denoted slyness or merely shyness.

Sherdock was in high spirits. Somehow Lynn did not hold him as accountable for her plight as she did Temu. Temu was a contemporary and should understand her point of view. Sherdock belonged to the past generation. He caught her watching him polish a duck's wishbone. Mongols felt, she knew, that to waste meat is to esteem lightly the soul of the animal whose life one has taken to feed his own life. But Sherdock was a Buddhist and a priest.

"Buddhists of hot countries are vegetarians," he said, "but we worshippers of the highlands believe that we do well to eat meat. Thus we give animal forces an opportunity to be reborn in the form of human activity. Partaking of the flesh involves the assimilation of the psychic elements of the animals sacrificed."

She smiled at him mischievously. "Now you are duck, I suppose," she said, "or do I mean a duck is you?"

Temu grinned and entered the conversation. "It is probably mutual. What is Gersing?"

"Quail," Lynn answered instantly. "What am I?"

"We'll ask Gersing," he evaded and translated the trend of the talk to the Duchess. She entered the game immediately.

"She says that you are lark and her son is made of sheep."

"What's he made of?" asked Lynn pointing to Temu.

"It is the Phoenix Bird, paragon of excellence."

"I agree with her," said Lynn, as they rose from the table. "He is certainly a paragon."

Temu gave her a reproachful look and walked with her out of the dining tent. "We start very early in the morning," he told her. "Should you like to come for a short ride about the camp?"

"Gladly, if I may go dressed as I am and ride side-saddle. I'm too lazy to change." She glanced at her white, wool sweater over a blue dress.

"I'll have a horse blanketed for you," he promised. "But are you dressed warmly enough?"

"All the solicitude of a cannibal chieftain!" she jibed.

"Do you want to be loved for your wit alone?"

"Don't you want to be loved at all?" she countered as they stopped in front of her tent.

"Speaking of love, doesn't it make you like the Prince a little better to know his story?"

"It makes me like you a little better," she said. "I wish I had someone who is as loyal to me as you are to him," she added hastily, noticing his baffled look.

"I am as loyal to you as I am to him. I consider you one."

"Honestly, Temu, do you think the Prince is as wonderful as Sherdock seems to think he is?" At his hesitation she cried triumphantly. "There it is! Sherdock looks at him with fond, parental eyes but you can't help seeing his shortcomings."

Temu spoke stubbornly. "Despite the Prince's shortcomings, I think I am doing right in taking you to him. As much as I believe anything on earth, I believe that your place is at his side and his place is the leadership of our country."

Lynn raised her hands in despair. "I keep fancying you ought to be different, but you're just another Oriental fanatic."

"I may be," he admitted with a smile that Lynn found as baffling as his Oriental philosophy. "Let's not talk about it any more. The wind is chilly; put on a warm wrap."

Men's Hands Smaller

Hutchinson, Kans. (AP)—C. C. Emery, who has been making rings for 34 years, says men's hands are getting smaller, women's larger. "Women's rings now average a size or two larger than when I first sat down at a jeweler's bench, while men's hands, by and large, are that much smaller," says Emery. The "soft office work" that men do and the athletics in which modern women are participating are responsible, Emery believes.

OFFICE CAT

TRADE MARK REG.

By Junius

Every President of the United States from Washington through Roosevelt is a descendent of a man and woman who came to America from a foreign land as immigrants to seek freedom, religious tolerance and happiness.

That man and woman did not at that moment realize it any more than it is realized today by refugees. It is safe to say that these new people coming to America will have children, grand-children and great grand-children who, no doubt, will be great factors in American life.

Charlie Miller, editor of the Peru, (Ill.) News-Herald, tells of a man who astonished the want ad clerk of his newspaper recently by placing an ad offering $50 reward for the return of his wife's pet cat:

Ad Taker—Isn't that a high reward for a cat?

The Man—Not in this case. I drowned the cat.

One reason why we prefer a barking dog to a calmity howler is that you can throw something at the dog, to drive him away and generally you have to endure the other.

A farmer was visiting a Mexican settlement after some years' absence. Talking to an old friend on a ranch, he said:

Farmer—So old Tom's gone. Do you miss him?

Rancher—No, that's why he's gone. I never miss.

Uncle Jed Turnipseed, from Brushville, was so lazy he never put off today what he could wait and put off tomorrow.

The fat man was all bent over, struggling with something, and the curious old lady was watching him intently:

Old Lady (sweetly)—Oh, so you are tying your shoe!

Fat Man (red in the face, looking up in disgust)—No, lady. I'm practicing Boy Scout knots.

One of the commonest causes of unsuitable marriages is unsuitable associates.

Hubby—And what will I do with out you this evening?

Wife—The dishes.

Definitions Not in Webster's

A recession is a period in which you tighten up your belt.

A depression is a time in which you have no belt to tighten.

When you have no pants to hold up, its a panic.

Tourist (having looked over historic castle, to butler)—I've made a stupid mistake, I tipped his lordship instead of you.

Butler—That's awkward. I'll never get it now.

Another example of thrift:

A Highland farmer had agreed to deliver 20 hens to the local market. Only 19, however, were sent, and it was almost evening before the 20th bird was brought in by the farmer:

Butcher—Man! You're late with this one!

Farmer—Aye, but, ye see, she didna lay until this afternoon.

Jewels of the Farmer's Wife

Her fingers feel the cooling touch of diamonds—morning dew;
As from her jewel box she takes bright gems of every hue.
On lovely ears of ripened corn are pearls displayed in rows;
She lifts fresh carrots from the ground, and sees where amber grows.
Pale alabaster radishes, gay
squashes of topaz,
And turnips trimmed with amethyst, are other gems she has.
With garnet beets, gold contaloupes, jade peas within a pod,
She seeks no common lover's gems
Her jewels come from God.

George—A friend of mine named his child Carol because she was born on Christmas.

Evelyn—She? I thought a carol was a hymn?

Target Practice

New Orleans—Joseph Frey, 53, taught his five-year-old grandson, Jack Breitenbach, how to shoot a rifle in one easy lesson.

He shot the firearm several times and then handed it to the boy. Jack pulled the trigger and a bullet entered the calf of his grandfather's right leg.

Reunion

Indianapolis — Come Columbus Day, 1950, three men who were boys together in Noblesville High School will meet at noon in front of the Columbia Club.

That is, if they keep their 1940 pledge as well as one made 10 years back.

Joseph Gillaspy of Lafayette, Arnold Thom of Noblesville and Charles Smithburn of Monticello met outside the club Saturday in fulfillment of a vow taken in 1930 when they were in school.

In the 10 years; all had married, two had become fathers and two had gone to college. One had put on a lot of weight.

Fire Prevention Note

Paris, Mo.—Mrs. Emerson Longnecker saw a rooster having convulsions and killed it.

The autopsy disclosed it had swallowed a match which evidently had been ignited by the grit in the bird's gizzard.

Happy Landings

Chillicothe, Mo.—J. W. Maxwell finds his driveway quite a problem. Three times drivers have mistaken it for a street extension and crashed into the Maxwell garage.

Raiders Give British About Worst Night of War; Death Toll Is Feared to Be High

Widespread Bombings Force Defense Corps to Move People From Some Sections

London, Oct. 14 (AP)—Diving raiders at widely scattered areas of Britain, including London and numerous other places today after night attacks in which casualties were heavier than usual.

More than 200 families had to be moved from one area of a town in western Scotland where two explosive and three time bombs were released.

One Nazi plane discharged five bombs from a power dive on an east Anglican coast town and several houses were wrecked. There were five casualties, two fatal.

Another raider dived out of the clouds and dropped two bombs on a town near London, one destroying four houses in a row and causing some casualties, a few fatal. Heavy ground fire drove the raider away when he attempted to repeat the performance.

Other raiders were reported on the northeast and on the outskirts of London, where there was heavy gunfire.

Meanwhile 5,000 men began a systematic clearing away of London's wreckage from the bomb war.

Pioneers Search Areas

Troops known as the Pioneer Corps set out today to bomb-battered area with picks, spades, ropes and pneumatic drills.

Unemployed men recruited by labor exchanges joined them in the work of pulling down dangerout walls of gutted buildings and salvaging materials useful for shelters or reconstruction work.

Early in the afternoon German aircraft were reported near two northeast coast towns.

A lone twin-engined bomber was seen flying on the outskirts of the London area. Anti-aircraft guns drove the raider off to the southwest with British fighters in pursuit.

Heaviest night casualties were reported in London, Liverpool, and two northeastern industrial towns whose names were not disclosed.

Homes in several scections of the capital were smashed, burying families huddled within. Many of the London casualties were caused when bombs wrecked a whole block of flats.

A government communique said "it is feared that the number of persons killed and injured is somewhat larger than during recent night attacks."

At least 15 persons were believed killed and 20 injured when big bombs exploded squarely upon two air raid shelters where families sought safety in two northeastern towns.

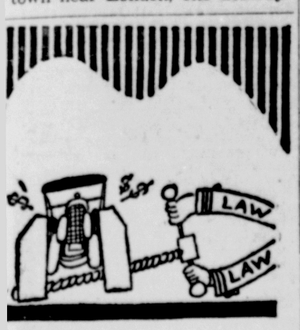

Uncounted other casualties were caused when bombs smashed a tenement block in Liverpool.

Group to Meet

The Missionary Society, Church of the Comforter, will meet at 2:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon in the church hall. Plans will be made for attending the conference.

Where Did Rabbits Go?

Leipzig, Germany (AP)—A lot of Germans are going to be "fine-feathered friends," literally speaking. "Furs" made from turkey feathers were displayed at the Leipzig fall fair. The feathers are sewed together and then lined. Manufacturers said the material was color fast and would not lose its shape in rain.

Auto Production At High Levels

Unit Sales for Year 1941 Expected to Exceed Previous 12 Months

Although industrial activity continued to rise irregularly last week and commodity prices generally worked higher, security markets trended off, although price changes were moderate and relatively insignificant, with volume at comparatively low level.

In industry the ratio of rise continues to grow smaller, due to the fact that in some lines production is nearing plant capacity, or present demands. Auto production is at high levels with the new models being accorded a good reception, while a larger volume of production is scheduled for the current quarter than for any previous final quarter. It is predicted that unit sales for the 1941 model will exceed the 1940 year by at least ten per cent, bettered by only two other years—1937 and 1929. Dollar volume for 1941 is expected to beat 1929, the peak year, but profit outlook is beclouded by the question of taxes, with normal taxes perhaps a third higher than in 1939, in addition to excess profits taxes which some companies probably will face.

Steel production last week was at the rate of 94.2 per cent of capacity, or at an annual rate of about 78,000,000 tons a year. It is figured that total production for this year will be about 65,000,000 tons, which would compare with an output of 62,000,000 tons in 1929. There is confidence in the trade that there will be steel enough for all purposes.

Under new regulations made public today by Administrator Fleming of the Wage and Hour Law, several hundred thousand so-called white-collar workers will be extempt from the "time and a half for overtime" requirements of the law. The new regulation, effective October 24, liberalizes the present definition of executive, administrative and professional employes, and outside salesmen.

President Roosevelt has named Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau, secretary of War Stimson, Secretary of the Navy Knox and Defense Commissioner William S. Knudsen as a committee to speed up aircraft production for the United States and Great Britain.

New York, Oct. 14 (AP)—Leading stocks backed away in today's market after getting off to a mild rallying start.

Dealings were light throughout and early advances of fractions to a point or so were substantially reduced or eliminated near the final hour. Transfers were at the rate of approximately 400,000 shares.

Bonds were mixed, with Japanese dollar loans extending their recovery. Securities at London improved. Commodities steadied.

Receiving occasional support were U. S. Steel, Youngstown Sheet, Crucible Common and Preferred, United Aircraft, Johns-Manville, N. Y. Central, Kennecott, U. S. Rubber, J. C. Penney, Chrysler, General Motors and Westinghouse.

Off now and then were du Pont, Sears Roebuck, American Telephone, Santa Fe and General Electric.

Doing fairly well in the curb were American Cyanamid "B", Bell Aircraft, Master Electric and Lake Shore. N. J. Zinc, Electric Bond & Share and Niagara Hudson Power slipped.

Quotations by Morgan Davis & Co., members of the New York Stock Exchange, 15 Broad street, New York city, branch office 48 Main street, R. B. Osterhoudt, manager.

of 40 hours a week if they receive a regular salary of $200 or higher.

The revised rules, however, do not apply to persons earning $200 a month or more whose work does not come under these special classifications.

The rules are effective October 24 when 40 hours becomes the standard work week for all workers covered by the wage-hour law. The present maximum work week is 42 hours without overtime pay.

Revised Definitions

In brief, the revised definitions are as follows:

Executive: An employe, paid at least $30 a week, who has management duties, the power to hire and fire, and who does no more than 20 per cent of the type of work performed by non-exempt employes.

Administrative: An employe, paid $200 a month or more, who is engaged under only general supervision in work related to management policies of general business operations, the work requiring the use of independent judgment and discretion.

Professional (other than physician or lawyer): An employe, paid $200 a month or more, whose work is predominantly intellectual and varied in character, whose product cannot be standardized, and whose qualifications require specialized or advanced knowledge, or artistic and creative ability.

Retail Sales

Retail Sales: An employe making retail sales the greater part of which are in intrastate commerce, or performing incidental thereto, and whose work does not include more than 20 per cent of the same type of work done by nonexempt employes. No special salary provisions are fixed.

Outside sales: A person customarily engaged away from his employer's place of business who makes sales or obtains orders or contracts for the use of facilities for which a consideration will be paid. These employes must not do more than 20 per cent of the type of work done by non-exempt employes, and their office work incidental to outside sales is not to be regarded as non-exempt work. No special salary provisions were fixed.

Under the decision of the Court of Appeals it would seem, therefore, 'that as to awards in Delaware Sections 5, 6, 7 and 8, which had not been paid before July 1, 1939, interest at the rate of 6 per cent must be paid from the date the City of New York acquired title up until July 1, 1939, and that 4 per cent interest must be paid from July 1, 1939 to the date of the payment being made.

"AT CENTURY'S TURN"

By H. L. VAN DEUSEN

Everybody was being urged to start a war garden in their back yards in 1918, and in the drive to induce men and women to get behind the movement a number of meetings were held throughout the city. Many of the meetings were held in the local schools at night.

These meetings were addressed not only by professional gardeners but by amateurs as well. I recall that I attended several of these meetings and enjoyed them.

One of the wittiest speakers in behalf of war gardens was the late A. W. Hoffman, managing editor of The Freeman. Mr. Hoffman had a dry humor that I have never heard excelled. He also had an excellent delivery.

Thursday morning, July 18, of that year was marked by Kingston sending its first all negro contingent away to Camp Dix. The six youths were given a rousing sendoff with one of the biggest parades yet staged.

The six youths who made up the contingent were James B. Fitzgerald of 47 Van Buren street, Clarence S. G. Clemons of 56 Grand street, George Hannibal of 248 Clinton avenue, James DeWitt of 25 Main street, Raymond Nelson of RFD 1, and Ira Hasbrouck of Converse street.

The month of July 1, 1918, was also marked by the adding of a motorcycle to the police equipment of Kingston. Chief of Police J. Allan Wood in a public warning had called attention to the fact that the speed ordinance of the city would be strictly enforced, and all auto drivers were warned not to exceed the speed limit of 15 miles an hour.

In April of that year a measles epidemic gripped Kingston and early in July more than 750 cases had been reported to the health department. It was reported in July that epidemic was thought to be on the wane.

The War Savings Stamp drive in Ulster county closed on July 8, with close to a million dollars' worth of stamps sold. Former Mayor William D. Brinnier was chairman of the drive.

He recommended that those who had been in contact with Cook be kept under strict medical supervision. Cook was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Taylor Cook.

GRANGE NEWS

Special Session

A special session of the New York state Grange for the counties of Orange, Rockland, Sullivan and Ulster, was held at Washingtonville on Tuesday evening, October 8.

This meeting was held for the purpose of conferring the sixth degree on a class of candidates so that they can attend the session of the National Grange which meets in Syracuse in November 1 and when the seventh degree, the highest degree of the order, will be conferred on 10,000 patrons November 14.

The meeting at Washingtonville was presided over by State Master W. J. Reich assisted by his efficient staff of officers. The stage setting was elaborate and the degree exemplified in a most capable and effective manner. A rose drill by 20 young women from Orange county made a most fitting climax to an impressive ceremony.

Two hundred candidates took the degree, the greater number of whom were from Orange county. Of the Ulster county granges participating, Ulster grange, No. 969, had the largest number of candidates.

Tickets for the seventh degree at Syracuse November 14 may be secured from the Pomona Master and the Deputy Master.

21-Year-Old Youth Fell Under His Mount

New York, Oct. 14 (AP).—Johnny Barba, 21-year-old New York jockey, died yesterday of injuries received Monday when his horse fell with him in a race at the Jamaica racetrack.

Barba went down with his mount, Canape, owned by P. T. Chinn, during an exciting dash down the stretch. He was struck by the hoofs of horses following him. He never recovered consciousness.

The spill resulted in an investigation by the stewards of the Metropolitan Jockey Club. They reported, however, that "the evidence developed failed to prove the guilt of any rider in the race. Therefore the incident must be treated as an accident."

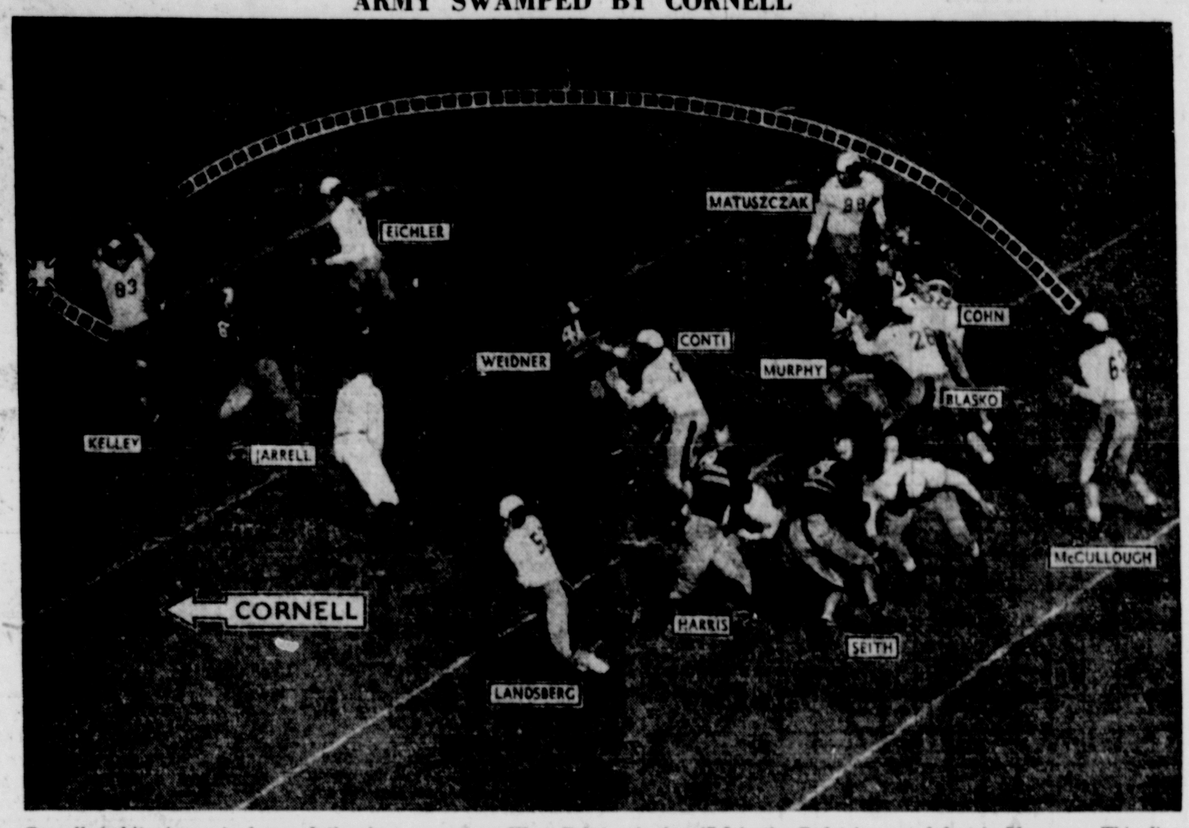

Jersey Giants Win

Jersey City, N. J., Oct. 14 (AP).—Ed Danowski, former New York Giant grid ace, passed the Jersey City Giants to their first American Pro Football Association win last night, a 7-0 triumph over the Long Island Indians.

ARMY SWAMPED BY CORNELL

Cornell (white jerseys) slammed the Arm around at West Point, winning 45-0 in the Cadets' worst defeat in 51 years. This diagram play shows how a Cornell pass, Hal McCullough to Alva Kelley, set up a touchdown in the first quarter. Note blocking which protected passer. Kelley, after taking the ball, went to 17 yard line (cross at end of dotted line). Four plays later Cornell scored.

Dodgers Win Third Straight in Pro Football Circuit

Giants Blast Eagles by 17-7; Green Bay and Bears Remain Tied in Western Half

Chicago, Oct. 14 (AP).—Dr. John Bain Sutherland is the "rookie" coach of the National Football League, but you'd never know it by the current doings of his Brooklyn Dodgers.

The Dodgers racked up their third straight Eastern triumph yesterday, a 21 to 0 decision over the Pittsburgh Steelers.

The club's only setback this season was a 24-17 loss to the Redskins in Sutherland's debut as a pro coach.

The undefeated Washington Redskins turned back the stubborn Chicago Cardinals, 28 to 21, yesterday while the hapless Philadelphia Eagles dropped their fifth straight game, bowing to the New York Giants, 17 to 7.

Green Bay and the Chicago Bears maintained their deadlock for western division leadership. The Packers unloosed their sparkling air attack for a 31 to 14 victory over Cleveland.

The Bears turned the first four plays of their game with Detroit into a touchdown, Bill Osmanski dashing 34 yards for the score. Jack Manders kicked the placement that ended the point-making for a 7-0 triumph.

Keystones Take Division B Title

Langley Pitches Both Wins Over Central Hudson

Behind the effective hurling of Ben Langley the Keystone sofeball club won the Division B championship of the City League Sunday afternoon by defeating Central Hudson in two games at Hasbrouck Park.

Langley pitched a no-hitter in the first game. His mates battered the offerings of Ed Strong for a 16 to 2 triumph. In the second game Langley took the hill and proceeded to check the Central Hudson team with five hits for a 6 to 2 win.

Jimmy Doyle and Joe Hoffman worked for the losers in the second game. Langley and Ray "Lindy" Lindhorst poled out homers for the winners.

Poughkeepsie Team Opens in Second Half

Coach Sammy Kalloch's Blue and White warriors of Poughkeepsie High School made it two in a row Saturday afternoon by shelling the Middletown gridders 20 to 7. Kingston will meet Middletown Friday night at Middletown.

Applying the usual Poughkeepsie dreaded attack the Middies were useless after the first half. In the final two sessions the Kallochmen opened up and overtook the Middies.

College Football Still Has Plenty of Classy Elevens; Cornell Has Strong Team

Michigan and Tennessee Have Displayed Much Power; Fordham Rated With Best

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, Jr.

New York, Oct. 14 (AP)—By this time next week football fans should know a lot more about where their favorite teams belong in the national picture.

The first two Saturdays of October have helped a lot to sift out the weak ones, but there is a lot more to be done.

Looking at things as they are now, the best prospects in various sections for the title awards appear to be these:

East: Cornell, Pennsylvania, Boston College, Georgetown and Villanova (with Fordham, Navy and Duquesne among the possibilities.)

Mid-west: Michigan, Northwestern, Minnesota and possibly Iowa in the Big Ten; Nebraska and Missiouri in the Big Six, and, of course, Notre Dame.

South: Tennessee, Mississippi and Alabama in the southeastern conference; Clemson and Duke in the southern and "independent" Virginia.

Southwest: Texas Aggies, Texas and Rice, although they're all tough.

Rocky Mountain Big Seven: Utah and Colorado with Denver a conference threat.

Pacific Coast: Stanford, Washington State with a good chance that Southern California may make a comeback.

Having gone that far out on the limb, a further survey of the situation by section reveals these pertinent facts:

East: Cornell's 45-0 victory over Army confirmed the experts' first impression that its a team without a real weakness. The Big Red either has faced weak opposition or has played well enough to make it look weak. Next Saturday Cornell meets an old rival, Syracuse, which bounced back from a defeat by Northwestern to wallop New York University 47-13. Penn also gave an amazing performance in handing Yale its worst defeat, 50-7. Princeton, though downed 12-6 by Navy, should be strong enough this week to prove whether the Quakers really are good.

Fordham showed great promise in walloping Tulane 20-7 and Boston College followed form in whipping Temple 33-20; Villanova and Georgetown beat South Carolina and Waynesburg by impressive scores Friday.

Intersectional Week

This is "Intersectional Week" in the east and as a result few of the top teams come together although Fordham meets Pitt, which played a 7-7 tie with Southern Methodist. Other important sectional tussles are Yale-Dartmouth, Harvard-Army and N.Y.U.-Holy Cross.

The intersectional list, however, sends Boston College against thrice-beaten Idaho; Colgate, 20-3 victor over Brown after an opening loss to Cornell, against Duke; Columbia, 20-6 winner over Dartmouth, against Georgia, Navy against Drake, and on Friday, Georgetown against Virginia Tech, Manhattan against Detroit and Temple against Michigan State. Playing on foreign fields, Villanova meets Baylor, which was bounced from the southwest conference picture by a 12-6 loss to Arkansas; Duquesne's unbeaten team meets Mississippi, southeastern conference leader; Carnegie Tech, beaten 21-0 by Holy Cross, visits Notre Dame and George Washington 20-14 winner over Washington and Lee, plays Kentucky.

Big Ten: Harvard was just a 26-0 breeze for Michigan and Tommy Harmon while Northwestern, with Bill De Correvont playing a great game, conquered Ohio State 6-3. Iowa grabbed a place in the sun by beating Wisconsin 30-12. All three have tough conference assignments this week. Michigan plays Illinois, lost a 13-7 decision to Southern California last Saturday. Northwestern meets Wisconsin and Iowa takes on Indiana, a 13-7 loser to Nebraska. Ohio State has for a "comeback" rival Minnesota, which was idle last Saturday. Purdue trounced 20-7 by Michigan State, is off this week.

All Have Been Beaten

Big Six: There's not an undefeated team in the loop, but Nebraska looks good in the strength of an even break against Big Ten opposition and Missouri was impressive in a 24-13 win over Kansas State engineered mainly by Paul Christman. Three conference games are listed Saturday: Nebraska vs. Kansas, 20-6 winner over Drake; Missouri vs. Iowa State, beaten 41-25 by Marquette, and Kansas State against Oklahoma, which lost a tough one to Texas, 19-16.

Among the mid western independents, Notre Dame held its usual top spot with a 26-0 triumph over Georgia Tech but may find Carnegie a troublesome customer as it has before.

Mississippi Is Strong

Southeastern conference: Mississippi's twin scoring stars, Junie Hovious and Merle Hapes led the Rebels to a 28-14 victory over Georgia that gave them the undisputed lead as the Mississippi State-Auburn and Vanderbilt-Kentucky games both ended in 7-7 ties. Since Mississippi plays Duquesne, Tennessee-Alabama is this week's big tussle. Both had breathers last Saturday. Georgia Tech-Vanderbilt is the only other conference clash. Tulane encounters Rice, which walloped Louisiana State 23-0 last Saturday while Florida and Sewanee play southern conference rivals, Maryland and Davidson.

Southern Conference: The race already has been reduced to a Clemson-Duke duel but a good many others may get back in if either is beaten. That won't happen this week, however, for Duke visits Colgate while Clemson, after eliminating Wake Forest by a decisive 39-0, takes a week off. North Carolina, previously beaten by Wake Forest, came back to down Texas Christian 21-14 and prove its right to a place among the leaders. The Tar Heels play North Carolina State Saturday.

Southwest: Although the conference race is wide open, Texas and Texas Aggies have turned in the best feats so far. The Aggies downed U.C.L.A. 7-0 last week and now face their first conference test against T.C.U. Texas' surprise team meets Arkansas while the others play intersectional games. Texas Tech takes on Brigham Young Friday after a 32-19 conquest of Montana.

Big Seven: Colorado walloped Utah State 26-0 to get a flying start in the conference race, Utah gained a 24-0 non-conference victory over Arizona and Denver tripped up Colorado State 14-13 last week.

Pacific Coast: Stanford, which conquered Santa Clara 7-6 for its third straight victory, and Washingston State, 9-6 winner over California, meet in a "natural" at Pullman, Wash., next Saturday. Washington looked good in a 10-0 triumph over Oregon and Oregon State breezed to a 26-0 win over Portland.

PUNTS AND PASSES

(By The Associated Press)

Syracuse, N. Y., Oct. 14 (AP)—Coach Ossie Solem returned to Syracuse today to begin preparations for sending his Syracuse University football team against Cornell's Big Red in Ithaca Saturday.

Solem remained over in New York to be with Quarterback Bob Heald who was taken to Cornell Medical Center with an injury after helping Syracuse shellack New York U. 47 to 13.

Solem scheduled only a light workout today.

Pittsburgh, Oct. 14 (AP)—Wherever the talk is of football, the subject hereabouts is Preston Johnston's thrilling 92-yard punt in the fading moments of Southern Methodist's 7-7 battle with Pitt.

The kick exceeded by three yards the longest recorded punt in intercollegiate grid history by Al Braga for San Francisco against Montana in 1937.

Ithaca, N. Y., Oct. 14 (AP)—Cornell's Big Red football team nursed a bumper crop of bruises today, but they are not expected to interfere greatly with plans for meeting Syracuse here Saturday.

Despite Cornell's 45-0 defeat of Army Saturday and Syracuse's 40-0 beating from Northwestern the week before, Coach Carl Snavely warned the Big Red against underselling the Syracusans.

Locals Score Win With Big Drive In Final Periods

Gil Kelder, Ashdown, Mac Tiano Score for Wasps; Gene Clemmer Stars for Middletown

Unleashing a powerful attack after being threatened in the early part of the game, the Kingston Yellow Jackets finally found the winning side of the ledger Sunday afternoon at municipal stadium by defeating the Middletown United Clothiers, 27 to 0.

Checked in its two previous starts the Kingston aggregation let loose with a scorching field day program and walked off the field with the first victory of the 1940 campaign. It was the Wasps' first local showing of the season.

On the brunt of All-DUSO Gene Clemmer the Middletown squad worked its way into Kingston territory in the first period. But the Jackets steadied and regained possession of the pigskin on the three-yard marker. As far as the opponents were concerned that was their last threatening gesture.

Tiano Goes Over

Late in the second period with the score still 0-0 the locals clicked for a touchdown. This time it was Jimmy Ashdown and Mac Tiano doing the ball carrying for Kingston. Tiano finally plowed over for the six points. Don Beany's attempt for the point failed.

In the third period Kingston just about "iced" the game with two touchdowns and two conversions. After Don Beany snatched a Middletown aerial Kingston staged a sustained drive of 56 yards for a score. The powerful backfield of Schimmel, Ashdown, Tiano, Stoll, Minasian and Kelder sparked the drive. From the two-yard line Kelder snaked-hipped off right end and went over.

Later in the third session the Yellow Jackets chalked up another six-points. Pulling out his blocking position Mac Tiano faded back and rifled a forward to Gil Kelder who pocketed the pigskin and went over the chalklines for a touchdown. Ashdown plowed over for the extra point.

Hampered by the terrific loss of its ace back, Gene Clemmer, the Middletown eleven fought desperately for the remainder of the tussle. Pass after pass was sent out in a last minute try to turn the tables. While the hapless Middletown crew tried everything Kingston was content to sit back and wait for a chance to do something.

Walt Schimmel, former Newburgh ace, made his Kingston debut stand out by intercepting a Middletown pass and then pulled off a nice run to the Middies' 27. Two power drives by Tiano and Ashdown brought the oval to the 16. Two plays later Ashdown went driving away and scored the last touchdown.

20 Arrests Made By Local Police On Traffic Counts

Twenty arrests, 19 of them for alleged traffic violations, were made in Kingston on Saturday and Sunday by the police department as the drive to regulate traffic was continued in the city.

The majority of the arrests were on charges of failing to observe the directions on stop signs, and Judge Matthew V. Cahill in imposing fines of $2 on those who pleaded guilty, warned that a second offense would mean a fine of $10.

Clinton Coddington of 11 Mill street was arraigned in police court this morning on three charges: Having no license to drive a car, improper license plates and having no certificate of registration.

Coddington in reply to questions by the court said that he had obtained the license plates from a man "named Jim on the Strand." He said he realized he was taking a chance when he drove the car. Coddington said his first wife, who was divorced, was living in Connecticut with their three children, and that he had one child by his second wife and expected another child shortly.

Judge Cahill directed the police to seize the license plates on the Coddington car and forward them to the motor bureau in Albany. He informed Coddington that owing to the fact that his family needed all of his money, and that he had been without work practically all year, that he would suspend sentence on all three charges.

W. N. Conner Has New Ambulance

Of Latest Design With Many Innovations

W. N. Conner of 296 Fair street has added a new Henney-Packard ambulance to his service. The new ambulance was driven to Kingston from the factory in Freeport, Ill. The body of most modern design is mounted on a Packard super-eight chassis with a 160-inch wheelbase. Of two-tone green color the new ambulance is as handsome as it is useful.

While the ambulance is of the latest design there are many innovations not found in other vehicles, innovations which were built into the body at the suggestion of Mr. Conner, who during his early life was a machinest and by practical experience learned of the utility of these many ideas.

Included in the equipment are two oxygen tanks and double inhalators housed in a cabinet at the front of the compartment. Other compartments are used for medicines, linen, ice bags and hot water bags as well as splints and other first aid needs. Above the stretcher are additional linen compartments and also fire fighting equipment. An air conditioning system with heater takes cold air from the floor and heats it before being circulated. All windows have Pullman type shades.

A combination cot and stretcher, with a finger touch release, occupies one side of the ambulance while on the opposite side is a leather upholstered seat which may be converted into a second cot by lowering the arms, thus converting the ambulance into a double carrying vehicle. In normal position the seat is used for nurse or physician and a loud speaker system connects with the driver compartment for use between the patient compartment and the front seat where driver or physician is in contact by the speaker system.

Under the floor are additional compartments for various uses. In the rear door is a compartment housing a wrecking kit for use in releasing persons in accidents and also an electric flare to be used as a warning to approaching cars.

The ambulance is fully equipped with flashing signal lights, siren and sealed beam fog and spot lights.

Through the addition of the new ambulance Mr. Conner, who does all city work as well as private work in the ambulance line, now has three cars ready for emergency use. His equipment includes two ambulances and an invalid coach. Through the addition of the new Henney-Packard ambulance Mr. Conner now has the best emergency equipment in the Hudson valley. Private ambulance service in Kingston was first established by W. N. Conner several years ago and since then he has been given all city ambulance work when the city of Kingston discontinued operation of an ambulance through the police department. In addition to having the best possible equipment Mr. Conner also has skilled employes for operation of the service.

Tom Mix Killed In Auto Crash

Nation's Cowboy Hero Is Victim of Upset in Arizona Saturday

Hollywood, Oct. 14 (AP)—There's sadness in the cow country today—grief among thousands who were and are small-boy followers of western movies—heartache throughout Hollywood. Tom Mix is dead.

The nation's cowboy No. 1 was killed Saturday when his automobile overturned at high speed near Florence, Ariz. Mix, 60, was on his way to Florence as advance agent for a circus. In the car and on his body authorities found Jewels, $6,000 in cash and $1,500 in travelers' checks.

Paul Mantz, aviator friend of the actor, brought the body to Hollywood. It will lie in state all day tomorrow, and will be buried at Forest Lawn Cemetery in Glendale Wednesday.

Mix had not been prominent in motion pictures for several years, but his activity with circuses and wild west shows kept bright his long-standing fame as a horseman deluxe.

Relatives said he had been married five times. He was married to his widow, Mrs. Mabel Mix, former circus aerialist, at Yuma, Ariz., in 1932. He has two daughters.

Also surviving is his famous wonder horse, Tony, now about 35 and retired to the Mix ranch in San Ferando Valley.

Washington has sent out 730,000 booklets containing registration rules. Every registration board should have at least one copy.

32,000,000 Cards

Printed locally, 32,000,000 registration cards—roughly two to each registrant, to allow for spoilage—are being distributed to registration boards, along with 25,000,000 registration certificates to be given to men who register.

About 10 huge enlargements of the registration card, with full instructions for filling it out, will be posted in each registration place.

Also printed locally, 25,000,000 information leaflets are ready for distribution to the registrants to inform them of their future duties under the draft.

Men between 21 and 36, whether citizens or alien, should go to the registration place closest to home, if possible, but if they are unavoidably away from home, they may register at the nearest registration place.

Those outside the United States must register within five days after returning. Hospitals will have special registrars for the sick. A man ill at home may have a competent person apply to registration officials for authority to register him.

Willful evaders are liable to penalties up to five years in prison and $10,000 fine.
